GENERAL.

Last Sunday New Westminster, B.C., was visited by a tremendous fire. $3,000-worth of property was destroyed, and 10,000 persons are homeless, depending for shelter and lodging on the surrounding country and villages. A number of lives are reported to be lost. The origin of the fire was the lighting of a straw pile by a spark from a steamster.

The Empress of Austria was assassinated by an Italian anarchist last Saturday. As her majesty was walking from her hotel to the wharf she was stabbed from behind. At first she rose and it was thought the wound was not serious, but she only lived a few minutes after being taken to the hotel.

The annual convention of the Central Assiniboia Teachers' Association is to be held at Indian Head on Friday and Saturday Sept 30th and Oct. 1st.

Levi Thomson will contest the electoral district of Wolsley for the candidature of M. L. A. at the coming Territorial elections.

The felt factory, of Brandon, was completely destroyed by fire, on Saturday morning last.

In September of next year the "World's Bicycle Meet" will take place in Montreal.

By the collapse of the new St.
Lawrence bridge at Cornwall, on the 7th inst., fifteen lives were lost, now recorded, and several more missing, buried, no doubt, under the ruins in the bottom of the river.
The piers were likely undermined
by the water.

FORT QU'APPELLE

A trip to Fort Qu'Appelle during the past week has revealed to us possibilities in regard to this section that we little dreamed of before. Fort Qu'Appelle is eighteen miles north of Qu'Appelle Station and as Washington Irving would describe it, is one of those peaceful villages sleeping in the prettiest valleys that our Canadian sunshines upon. It is sleeping in the sense of its isolation from locomotive life, in its serene location in the valley of the Qu'Appelle river.
But in business interests and patriotic life
it is far from sleeping; fighting away against the inconvenience and expense of freighting merchandise by wagon across eighteen miles of country, struggling for a foremost place against towns that have a market for grain and holding its own against a thousand disadvantages, reflecting but a shadow, of the class of citizens that have stood by the town and labored on its behalf for the past fifteen years.

Surrounding Fort Qu'Appelle is a section of farming land second to none in the world and what place deserves to be the center of that trade and what place should command the market for that section of country if it is not Fort Qu'Appelle.

The Four Mills, of Joyner and Elkington have a certain amount of the farmer's wheat, and considering the distance of transporting the flour for shipping, it is a large amount. But the town's maintenance depends upon this for its only market and when the trade resulting from it support the business places found there to-day, it gives us an idea of the possibilities of the town, if it worked upon an equal footing with those around it.

The question that we are forced to ask,
"Why is there not a railway here?" Is it possible that the C. P. R. because it feels that the trade is forced to come to it, will disregard the wishes of the people from year to year.
Will it for the sake of a trifling extra profit sacrifice the interests of the community and the development of the country. That a railway, or a spur from the station north, would almost immediately pay for itself cannot be denied if considered, and can any section be found that would speak such volumes in favor of the North West as this section, if opened up. With other things equal and one would select this location in preference to a thousand others. Its scenery would attract the visitor. It could be a center of attraction for its beauty, but not exhausting it, and if there is one thing more than another that will draw the immigrant to a certain section, it is the beauty of the country. In this respect, it is a place they would enjoy to live and be proud to make a home.

Those who have visited this thriving pleasant place know that the country and town far exceeds this description. We can easily see the day when the railway company will have to respond to the benefit of that section of country so long wanted and by giving it railway facilities give it an opportunity for greater things in the years to come.

We would wish at the present time to devote space to a full description of this important place, but our room prevents it; but we hope in a short time to be able to give under the name of A. In the meantime these will serve as introductory remarks.

Weed Inspector District No. 2.

The Finance Committee recommended the payment of accounts to the amount of $170.21, and recommended the adoption of the Sec. Treas. report of $1,058.14 funds in hand.

Dale—Broley—That the Sec. Treas. be instructed to answer all the communications respecting the additions to the assessment. Carried.

Dale—Broley—That MacCaul & Harvey's
account for rent of weigh scales, $5, be paid, and that the public are hereby notified that the arrangement between this council and Messrs. MacCaul & Harvey with reference to their weigh scales is terminated. Carried.

Cates—Broley—That on account of the circumstances of the case the Council are willing to compromise with the Hudson's Bay Co. by making a remission of one-half of the amount of statute labor charged against the company's lands in the uninhabited townships in this municipality, and this arrangement shall have effect for only the present year. Carried.

Dale—Broley—That the Sec. Treas. be instructed to add to the assessment roll all the lands which have been homesteaded or purchased since the last assessment was made, also the lands that were omitted at the valuations, as per the notices which have been mailed to the owners. Carried.

Council then adjourned.

REGINA.

Sept. 10th.

A large number of bills and amendments have been put through this week.

The Lieut. Governor and Miss Cameron went east to Goderich, Ont., on Wednesday.

The Hon. Mr. Sifton, Hon. R. Watson,
Jas. Sutherland and Mr. Woodstock remained over here for a day. Mr. Sifton visited the Govt. House, Judge Richardson and the Assembly buildings. The local government interviewed him on matters affecting the Territories. A number of interested people interviewed him regarding seed grain lien bonds, amongst others, D.
H. McDonald, M.L.A., in the interest of the settlers in the Qu'Appelle district. Mr.
McDonald has also been urging the sale of certain school lands in the North and South Qu'Appelle Districts, which have reached a good value and would help out settlement of the country.

Mrs. Bulyea and Mrs. White (sister of Mr. G. H. V. Bulyea, M.L.A.), were in town on Friday for the day, returning the same day.

W. H. Stephens, Dan McLean and T.
W. Jackson, all of Indian Head, were in town on Friday. Mr. Jackson's bill enrolling him as a Barrister is being passed at this session. Mr. Jackson used to practise at Fort Qu'Appelle in the early days.

J. B. Hawkes, candidate in South Regina, was in town several days this week promoting his canvass.

Commissioner and Mrs. Herchermer, of the barreness, have gone to Fort Steele, B.C., on a visit to their daughter, Mrs. Hamilton.

Mr. James Clunkskill, M.L.A., returned home to Battleford this morning. Mr.
Clunkskill has been in the Assembly for ten years and carries home with him the goodwill and respect of all the members on his voluntary retirement from N.W. politics.
He is acknowledged to be one of the closest observers of legislation brought before the House at any time.

Mrs. Mitchell (and daughter) wife of H.
Mitchell, M.L.A., has gone to Winnipeg for a visit.

Sept. 12th.

It was moved to-day in the Assembly by Mr. Hamilton that the house sit at 10.30. That means that three sessions a day will be held from this on.

G. H. Ham, of the C. P. R. news service, formerly a well known Winnipeg newspaper man, and a N. W. Rebellion newspaper correspondent, was in town to-day.

Mr. Edwin M. L. A., of Saltcoats, visited Qu'Appelle on Sunday evening and was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Robinson. Mr.
Edwin returned Monday morning.

A large number of ex-Patrons, former supporters of J. K. McInnis, in the Dominion election, are supporting G. W. Brown
M. L. A. in the N. W. election.

T. O. Davis, M. P. of Prince Albert, was in town to-night. He goes west to-morrow returning in the evening with Hon. Clifford Sifton, who continues his journey east.

The estimates were laid on the table of the House to-day.

D. H. McDonald M. L. A. brought down a motion for the purpose of inducing the Govt. to recommend to the Federal Govt.
the advisability of selling certain school lands, in the Territories, that had reached a value higher than that fixed by statute as the minimum price at which such lands should be sold. The Govt. promised to take the matter into consideration and there is every prospect of certain valuable school lands in the Indian Head and Qu'Appelle districts being sold during the winter.

Sept. 13th.

Premier Haultain occupied the morning session with his budget speech and at noon
still had the floor.

Sept. 14th.

Mr. Bulyea has arrived in Vancouver and will reach here Thursday evening. The House will continue in session until Saturday.

LOCAL NEWS

A. McIntosh is in town.

G. H. V. Bulyea will be home to-morrow.
T. Jones has returned from his holiday tour.

T. Johnston intends taking a trip to Ontario this winter.

Don't forget the entertainment to-night
by Misses White and Kieiser.

It is said that some of the young ladies in town are anxious to study law.

F. E. Parker is putting a neat fence around his new residence.

We are pleased to see Mr. Boyce, Sr., is able to be about again after two weeks of illness.

A number of maps have been procured for the school. They were purchased from Russell, of Winnipeg, and are a handsome and valuable addition to the school.

The entertainment in the hall to-night will probably be the best given in Qu'Appelle this fall. Pay particular attention to "The Country Dance," by Miss White.

Pastor T. N. Ritchie, a former pastor of Qu'Appelle, now of Melita, Man., will occupy the Baptist pulpit here next Sunday.
He will speak specially on home missions.

Dentist: Dr. H. Wightman, of Indian Head, will visit Qu'Appelle Stn. on Thursday, Sept. 22nd. All kinds of dental work performed and guaranteed. Painless extraction of teeth.

A considerable enthusiasm was aroused in the cause of temperance by the mass meeting in the Methodist church last Sabbath evening. Everyone should turn out and by numbers swell the interest.

One day last week a couple of school teachers of the fair sex, not over twenty miles from here, drove to Qu'Appelle. On their way home, not being accustomed to think about the road—"Far other aims their thoughts had learned to prize"—they lost the trail. With a determination that deserved a better meed they set about finding it, but to no avail. At length a herd-man's cottage came in sight, and thinking it a German's, addressed the inmates in that language, and were answered in Italian.

BIRTHS.

Mitchell—On Saturday, Sept. 10th, the wife of Stewart Mitchell, of a son.

Neither understood the other nor the language they spoke, and they jabbered away in a fruitless effort to find out. Sur-fice it to say that the moonbeams kept vigil with the fair ones, the stars tossed their coy glance to the wanderers and the sable pail of night held them fast till daylight returning re- led the way and now, all is well.

The Executive Committee of this diocese met at Bishop's Court, Indian Head, yesterday. The Rev. Archdeacon attended.

The supplications of the Leland boarders have been answered and regeneration has taken place in the roof of the house. But also! the fixtures have brought fine weather and so they can't be appreciated.

On Monday and Tuesday a photographer was in town and took photos of nearly all the residences and business places in town.
They are doing it at their own risk and hope to be able to sell a sufficient number to make it pay.

The teachers and pupils of Qu'Appelle school are arranging for a social to be held in McLane's Hall on Friday evening, Sept. 23rd. The proceeds are to be devoted to founding a school library. Further particulars next week.

Rev. J. G. McKee conducted the services in the Presbyterian church last Sabbath
in the interest of the funds of the church.
In the evening he treated the subject of experiences under four heads: (1) Executive,
(2) Educational, (3) Superannuation, (4)
Missions—(a) Foreign, (b) Home.

The estimates presented to the Assembly
last Saturday provide for a number of improvements along the Qu'Appelle river.
$175.20 is provided for South Qu'Appelle Municipality because of an error in the official Gazette in advertising the tax sales, which prevented the sale being made.

Four different companies will buy grain here this year. Mr. Vickers will represent Bready, Love & Tryon, in the new elevator, and W. Davidson will buy for McMillan &
Co., who have rented a space in Bready, Love & Tryon's building; Rees Morgan will conduct the business of the Northern, while W. Hammond is expected to be in charge of the Lake of the Woods.

The Dominion Government have sent out notices, regarding the setting of prairie fires, to all schools. These notices are to be posted up, and should be read and remembered by all. Too often has a year's work been wasted and a valuable crop been destroyed by someone's carelessness. Hunters also should be careful in dropping matches on the prairie.

Messrs. Kennedy & McGee have finished repairing R. Stephen's engine, of Indian Head, and have also finished with the Springbrook syndicate traction engine.
This machine, with Fred McLane as foreman, and Jos. Gray, engineer, are the first outfit to commence operations this season, having commenced yesterday on the farm of Mr. Donaldson, near the Fort.

A Budget of Interesting Items from this Prosperous District.

The Royal Templars of Temperance are booming and have entered the fray with a gusto, and as a result a large vote in favor of prohibition may be expected in this district.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Anderson, Mr.
and Mrs. Wilson and P. J. James spent last Sunday with Mrs. Ellis.

The improvements on the church are being pushed forward rapidly. The carpentery is already done. About $400 has been spent on improvements. It will present a very neat appearance when completed.

Mr. Rothwell I. P. S. paid a visit to the schools last week. He is on his regular rounds now.

Mr. Atkinson, the evangelist, will deliver a lecture on prohibition in the Edgeley football hall, on Friday evening Sept.
23rd. All are invited and any who have heard Mr. Atkinson before, know there is a treasure store for the people of this district.

Edgeley schoolhouse and grounds have been thoroughly renovated, making them present quite a picture.

Miss Emma Goodwin is attending school
in town at present.

Miss L. Balfour is now visiting her sister,
Mrs. Fred Wittingham.

Mr. Law, of Qu'Appelle, paid us a flying visit on Sunday.

Mrs. English, from Ontario, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Jos. Craig Jr.

Joe Price has his brother from Ontario working with him this fall.

A great many of the farm hands recently from Ontario, have located in this neighborhood.

Mr. McCormick, of the felt factory, was the guest of J. H. Fraser, on Sunday.

Mr. W. Matthews has had the misfortune to lose a valuable horse, through inflamation.

A movement is afoot for the purpose of establishing a free public school library.
Quite a respectable sum has already been promised and any further donations will be gladly received and duly acknowledged by the secretary of the fund, Mrs. T. J. Wilson.

Spencerville Splashes.

What might have proved a serious accident occurred at Starr's Point
Thursday evening. As Mr. J. C.
Starr, in company with a lady friend, were leaving for home, they were surprised to see the hind wheel drop from the buggy, but, fortunately, Pinchey, the pony,
stopped up quite unconcerned.

One of the boys had a nut in his pocket which just happened to fit the buggy axle, and Mr. Starr was then all wed to proceed on his way rejoicing. We wish to see young folk enjoy themselves, but not at the danger of other people's lives.

As this is the fourth time this trick has been played, we think it high time to call a halt.

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

FOURTEEN KILLED AND MISSING
AND SIXTEEN INJURED.

New St. Lawrence Bridge at Cornwall
Collapses Carrying Down Sixty Workmen.

Hogansburg, N. Y., Sept. 6.—A most appalling disaster occurred here to-day, and its results will probably make a death list of forty or fifty. The great railway bridge being erected across the St. Lawrence river by the New York and Ottawa railway, now under construction, gave way about noon, sending upwards of sixty workmen down with the debris into the mighty, rushing river sixty feet below. Thirty-three of the victims have been taken to the hospital at Cornwall, Ont., on the Canadian side. It is believed that over twenty yet remain in the river, and it is expected that the death roll will not be completed for many days.

The workmen were largely from the New York side of the river and it is almost impossible to obtain their names. A number of the victims were Indians from the famous St. Regis tribe, whose reservation is in the northwestern part of Franklin county. Many of those who escaped clung to the iron work which still rested on the piers at either end.

Hogansburg, N. Y., Sept. 6.—The latest news makes it probable that the death toll will reach fifty. From today's terrible accident, as far as can be learned 87 were on the payroll of whom 82 reported for work this morning. Of this long list only 38 have actually been accounted for. Allowing that some of those unaccounted for will turn up after the excitement, the probable list of dead and injured will in all likelihood reach over 25 and may reach 30. Among those thrown into the river was the foreman, F. Brady, whose home is in Pottsville, Pa. He had just been accounted for up to a late hour to-night and is supposed to be at the bottom of the river. All efforts to get a list of the names of the workmen and those of the missing have proved futile as yet. Everything was in a state of intense excitement all the afternoon, and the efforts of all were to care for the injured ones, and get them to Cornwall hospital as fast as possible. Just before dark the dead body of an Indian laborer was picked up on the Cornwall side. There was only a slight bruise on his forehead. He probably was stunned by the fall and dropped before he came.

Cornwall, Sept. 6.—It is estimated that thirty men were killed by the fall of pier No. 2 of the St. Lawrence bridge of the Ottawa and New York railway this afternoon. Twelve others were seriously injured.

Pittsburg, Sept. 6.—Two spans of the new St. Lawrence river bridge at Hogansburg went down this evening. It is reported that thirty-five men were drowned.

DETAILS OF ACCIDENT.

Cornwall, Sept. 6.—Fourteen men were killed to-day and twenty badly injured by the fall of two spans of the new bridge of the New York and Ottawa railway. The river here is divided by Cornwall Island and the disaster occurred in the north channel. There are two stone piers in the centre of the stream supporting three spans of ironwork, each 370 feet long and 57 feet above the water. The accident centered around the pier near the south or the United States shore. Nobody knows how the accident occurred. The workmen suddenly felt the bridge give away and were instantly thrown into the water or caught in the wreck and crushed. The piers and masonry work here were built by Sooyomith and Co., of New York, and were practically completed. Some blame the accident on this company but another theory is that the water had undermined the pier. The men killed were horribly crushed and mutilated. All the rescued were brought to the Hotel Dieu here. Several men are missing, of those counted as dead and no doubt their bodies are at the bottom of the river. Most of the men were employees of the Phoenix Bridge Co. John Simons head foreman, had just left the bridge when the accident occurred. The centre span did not swerve until it had sunk some distance when it toppled over. The span next the United States shore sank directly to the bottom just as it stood.

THE DEAD.
The following are dead and missing, fourteen in all:

W. J. Cuddy, Paterson, N. J.
W. J. Jackson, Columbus, Ohio.
Louis Barrman, Johnston, Pa.
J. L. Dyar, Tyrone, Pa.
J. D. Craig, 221 Franklin street, Detroit.

Pat Murphy, 139 Bathurst street, Toronto.

Tom Birmingham, address unknown.
Dan Hughes, Cleveland, Ohio.
Frank Levisne, Ogdensburg.
W. Sherman, Cornwall.
W. Saunders, Baltimore.
John Clause, Caughtawaga.
P. Davis, Pittsburgh.
Cyril Campbell, Cornwall.

THE INJURED.

Following is a list of injured:
John Wilson, Malden, Mass., leg broken.

Geo. Blaxton, Perkinsville, Vt., compound fracture of leg and badly bruised.

Bert Mant, Deseronto, arm cut and bruised.

Peter Oke, Cornwall Island, chest and leg injured.

Louis White, Cornwall Island, spine injured, ankle fractured and injured internally.

P. Day, Cornwall Island, scalp wound.

Michael Peaves, Cornwall Island, chest seriously injured.

Andrew Smith, Rochester, back seriously injured.

W. Thompson, Montreal, right leg broken and badly bruised.

John Fraser, Quebec, leg cut off.

John Boreas, Indian, Cornwall Island, internally injured.

P. Delabante, Elkhart, Wis., both legs cut, one hand broken.

D. Barton, Buffalo, legs crushed.

M. Burke, Johnsville, wrist dislocated.

Henry Leaf, Cornwall Island, both hands smashed.

THE ANGLO-GERMAN ENTENTE.

Terms of Alleged Agreement Between Great Britain and Germany.

London, Sept. 7.—The terms of the Anglo-German agreement, which is the principle topic of the day here, are stated on good authority to be in the main as follows: The first point is that Germany and England have come to a complete understanding on all African questions. In February, 1895, Germany made a formal claim upon Lord Kimberley, then British foreign secretary, for the maintenance of the status quo in South Africa, the especial object being to protect the Transvaal from British control. Germany now withdraws absolutely from the claim, and leaves Great Britain a completely free hand in South Africa. The German and British ministers further agree to give a joint government guarantee of a loan to Portugal to enable her to meet the award of the Swiss arbitrators regarding the Delagoa railway. Arbitration is to decide the amount of compensation due from the Portuguese government to the McMurdo concessionaries of the Delagoa railway. The concessionaries being largely American, the United States and British governments have long been jointly pressing for this compensation. The Transvaal thereby becomes an enclave and Kruger loses his only chance of independent outlet to the sea.

The agreement further provides that all steps necessary for England's acquisition by amicable arrangement with Portugal of part of Mozambique, shall receive the assent of Germany. Germany also agrees to recognize the permanence of British occupation of Egypt, when next year England will ask Europe for a curtailment of the jurisdiction of the mixed tribunals.

As a quid pro Germany secures a settlement of the frontier in Togoland. The neutral zone called Dagobaland, between Ashantiland and Togoland, is to be divided, giving Germany the bulk of the zone. The river Volta is, as far as possible, to become the dividing line between German and British sections. Further, the British ministry agrees to assent, under certain conditions, to the arrangement which the German emperor expects to make with the sultan during his approaching visit to the Holy Land, and to facilitate German colonization in Asia Minor.

These are the important features of the agreement, some of which must be made public when the Portuguese loan is announced.

METHODISTS IN COUNCIL.

No Action on Proposed Admission of Women—Some Important Reports.

Toronto, Sept. 7.—There were two important reports up before the general Methodist conference today, one from the committee on memorials, and the other from the committee on systematic beneficence.

The memorial committee urged conference to direct its special committee to proceed with all diligence towards obtaining co-operation of other churches in the proposed memorial to Her Majesty's government to remove the existing order of precedence for the clergy in state functions in Canada, which is, the committee submitted, an offence in its unjust discrimination, and is utterly opposed to the constitutional relations of church and state in the Dominion. The clause was adopted by the conference.

Conference also approved of a clause that to prohibit ministers and other members of the church from becoming members of Free Masons, or other similar societies, would be undue interference with Christian liberty.

Conference also agreed with the committee's pronouncement in regard to the admission of women to the church councils. They had no reason, said the committee, for believing there were any considerable number of women in the Methodist church who desired the change proposed, and it was therefore recommended that no action be taken.

Li Hung Chang Dismissed.

Pekin, Sept. 7.—Li Hung Chang has been dismissed from power. It is presumed this was done in accordance with the demand which, it is rumored, the British minister here was instructed to make on account of the alleged general partiality of the great Chinaman to Russia, culminating in Great Britain being deprived of the contract for the Pekin-Hankow railway.

A Husband's Revenge.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 6.—The chief of police of a small town in North Dakota, near the Manitoba line, arrived in Ashland, Wis., on Sunday, accompanied by Wm. Peters, of Manitoba, who was in search of his wife, who eloped over six years ago with Theo. Clies. She took with her a little daughter, while Clies left seven children. For over a year Peters has been on their trail, offering a reward, and finally locating them in a hut in a dense forest near Glidden, Wis. Clies was arrested yesterday, taken to Ashland today, pleaded guilty to adultery, and was sentenced to twenty months' imprisonment. Peters offers to pay his wife's fare back to her mother's, but will take the child.

ALARMING REPORTS.

Russians Ignoring British Rights at Niu
Chwang—British Fleet Ordered There.

London, Sept. 6.—The Pekin correspondent of the Times, who has just paid a visit to Niu Chwang, in the province of Liao Tung, Manchuria, a terminus of the proposed railway extension, the contract for building which has been at issue between the Russian and British governments, says: "The Russians are acting there quite regardless of the rights of Englishmen and others, and as if the place belonged to them."

According to a dispatch to the Daily News from Shanghai, it is rumored there that the British fleet is under orders to rendezvous at Niu Chwang.

THE TORONTO EXHIBITION.

Great Crowds Visit the City—Large Gate Receipts.

Toronto, Sept. 7.—The hotels in the town are jammed, one and all, yet a further great influx of visitors is expected today, and a very large proportion of the visitors are Americans, many from the western states. Not a few visitors had to walk the streets all night. Besides the regular trains yesterday, there were thirty to forty incoming and outgoing trains. Both lines have all they can do. In the morning there was a terrific jam at the Union station caused by the influx of passengers. The crowd is likely to be over by Friday. So far no more than trifling accidents have resulted from the jams.

Toronto, Sept. 7.—The earnings of the street railway last week over the corresponding week of last year amount to the high figure of $7,922, affording an idea of the extraordinary number of visitors in the city. The exhibition itself shows an increase of $5,500 in gate and grand stand receipts as compared with a corresponding period last year.

THE C. W. A. MEET.

Riddle and McLeod Carry Off the Honors
of the Day.

Winnipeg, Sept. 6.—The first day of the great championship race meet proved a success in spite of the heavy track and blowing southwest wind, which tested the endurance of every one in the races. A big crowd of people witnessed the sport. It was a great day for the Winnipeg rider, Geo. W. Riddle. He won with ease the quarter mile open in the amateur class, and also carried off the half mile championship also, Frank Moore, of Toronto, came near nipping him at the tape. The following is a summary of the day's victories:

Amateur winners: One mile novice, Howard Carper, W.B.C.

Half mile championship, Geo. Riddle, R.B.C.

Quarter mile, Geo. Riddle, R. B. C.

One mile championship, F. W. Barnes, Hamilton.

Two mile handicap, Howard Carper, W. B. C.

Professional winners: Half mile open, Angus McLeod, Toronto.

One mile championship, Angus McLeod, Toronto.

One mile open, T. B. McCarthy, Toronto.

Two mile tandem championship, McLeod and Longhead.

Half mile exhibition, Longhead, 56 2-5 sec.

BITTER AGAINST THE U. S.

Europeans in Mexico Hostile to Growing American Influence.

City of Mexico, Sept. 6.—The very bitter feeling among leading European merchants against the Americans since the successful close of the war in Cuba and the Philippine Islands, is wholly based on a fear of the rising prestige of the Americans and a fear on the part of the Europeans that they will lose the trade of Mexico. A curious outcome of the war is the apprehension left by resident Spaniards and merchants that their own nationality in Havana will come here and enter into competition with them. They are warmly opposed to Spanish immigration into Mexico. The general sentiment among men in trade here is hostile to the growing American commercial and financial influence and this feeling is manifested in many irritating ways. President Diaz's administration is friendly to the Americans and this fact enrages the newspapers in opposition to his government which are owned or secretly subsidized by resident Europeans. Those papers are doing all in their power to excite a bitter feeling against the United States.

The Cohoes Accident.

Cohoes, N.Y., Sept. 6.—The railroad disaster may be pronounced a tragedy. Walter Congdon, the conductor of the motor car which was wrecked with such great loss of life, in collision with the night boat express of the Delaware & Hudson Railway company last night, has been arrested for manslaughter. He is charged with having signalled his car to proceed over the tracks of the D. & H. Co. when the express train was in sight. Engineer Harris, of the train which struck the car, stated to-day that he did not see the car until it was upon the track before him. He could do nothing to avert the crash. The city today is grief-stricken. There was one death this morning, that of Mrs. Emma Darbyshire, of Cohoes, who had a splinter of wood five inches long enter her skull.

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 6.—Michael

Lynch and John Brennan rowed a three mile scull race on Bedford Basin Monday afternoon for $200 a side, in the presence of 8,000 people. Lynch won by six lengths, in 22 min. 40 sec. The winner is one of the Lynch brothers, who are to row here against Rice and Durman in double sculls for $500 a side, the latter part of September.

Winnipeg, Sept. 6.—At the immigration headquarters the following returns for the month show the number of immigrants to be 1,459 for August. Of these 246 were English, 20 Irish, 50 Scotch, 72 German, 36 Scandinavians, 19 French and Belgians, 111 from United States, 670 Canadians, 166 Galicians, and 659 who do not come under any of these nationalities. Out of these 791 settled in Manitoba, 308 in the Territories, 350 in British Columbia, 10 in the United States.

Ottawa, Sept. 6.—Malcolm Macleod,

Q.C., died yesterday at his residence on Victoria street. He was born on Oct. 22, 1821, at Green Lake, in what is known as Manitoba, his father, the late John Macleod, being a chief factor in the service of the Hudson's Bay company.

IMPERIAL MILLIONS.

By Julian Hawthorne.

CHAPTER XVIII.
OVER A CUP OF TEA.

"You mustn't expect from me any attempt to return you an equivalent for your hospitality," remarked Sallie, as she gracefully began the brewing of the tea. "I haven't the material, nor the ingenuity. There is not so much as an assassin on the premises, not to speak of magic mirrors and Oriental enchanters, and beautiful spectacles. By the way, that was a wonderfully clever trick. How was it done?"

"You must ask Garcia," replied the count, quietly, as one who had made up his mind to endure up to a certain point, and then no more.

"Do you think Garcia would tell me any secret of yours?" said Sallie. She gave the question a flavour of arch surprise that sent the count on a swift journey of expectation. After all, why had Garcia left him? He began to surmise a possible reason, but he said only, "I have always found him a useful man. Of course I know he has his weaknesses."

"Yes; so have we all," she replied.

"Even the Count de Lisle has weaknesses. And yet it seems to me, were I in your place I would have none."

No man ever had a greater opportunity than you. If you stood for yourself alone, what could you not do? No one could attack you. You could buy friends, police, juries, judges and legislatures. You could make laws and elect rulers. You could yourself be the real ruler of this country and hold the balance of power in the world. With genius and purpose and such wealth as yours all that would not be impossible. But, then, you must make sacrifices. You must be solitary. If you give your confidence to a friend or your heart to a woman you are vulnerable and can be overthrown. When I first learned who and what you were I feared you were a man. I said to myself, who, from having a rope around his neck, has risen to power incalculable. The world has done its worst to him; he will have his revenge upon the world. The iron has entered into his soul, and now his soul will be like iron. He must be obeyed, for he can enforce obedience."

But when I heard Garcia suddenly changing from this serious vein to a light and bantering tone, "that the Count de Lisle was in love and about to be married I did not fear him so much. To have attempted to overthrow you by questioning the means that had obtained you your wealth would have been a desperate enterprise. Even robbers and murderers, if they be strong and resolute enough, need fear nothing. But to have given your heart to a girl—that was another matter! You could be reached through her."

And you? Are you impenetrable?" asked he.

"Only in so far that if I saw my way to accomplish what I supremely desire I would let nothing deter me. I was an innocent little girl once, but even then I had strong desires, and without any opportunity to carry them out. I made some serious mistakes, and suffered from them, but I had had my way, and I found that most failures in this world are due to not having been unscrupulous enough. It needs courage to begin, but when you discover what it is to be without scruples you wonder why anybody is controlled by them. They are the great slaveholders of the human race. But I was gold. I say that I should be willing to put in your hands any evidence against myself that you might require for my destruction rather than forego the purpose I have in view."

"What is your purpose?"

"The poets say that love is lord of all, you know. I have had my doubts of that, and I want you to settle them. You think you love Olympia Raven. How much would you be willing to sacrifice to save her life?"

"That is a hypothetical question. I could answer it only after I was made certain that her life was in danger."

"Why should her life be in danger?"

"Upon the result of this interview. She is in my power—as the people in melodrama say. What becomes of her depends on my will."

The count, who had been sitting with his elbows on his knees, and his eyes lowered, looked up, and his glance and Sallie's met. What she saw in his mind sent a quick flush to her face. For a moment she held her breath. No soldier in battle was ever nearer death than Sallie then. But she had a resolute heart, and when she drew her breath again, it was with a smile.

"Do you always carry a revolver?" she said. "We are alone in the house, except my maid. I could have protected myself, but I am sufficiently protected by circumstances. It has been arranged, that if anything happens to me, Olympia shall not long survive me."

"Have we not had enough of this?" asked he. "Do you really expect me to accept your statements as facts?"

"I might leave you to suffer the consequence of not accepting them. But I wish to spare you the pain of uncertainty, if I can. Let me see. What can I do? Would you like to see something of hers? Did you not give her an engagement ring? And she did not wear it on the evening when you last saw her?"

He shrugged his shoulders. "I have given her many things—no doubt a ring, among others. She might have lost it, and it might have been picked up."

"At any rate, I will restore it to you," said Sallie. "It is not mine, and since she no longer wears it, you should have the charge of it."

So saying, she drew the box toward her, opened it, and took out a ring. It was a black diamond, in an antique setting. It was one of the jewels that had been contained in Napoleon's treasure-chest, and the count had given it to Olympia as the pledge of their betrothal. Such another ring did not exist in the world. He knew that Olympia would never willingly let it leave her finger.

"I see no reason why I should discuss the question with you," said the count.

"You won't the poor creature to your service, by means it is easy to surmise; and prevailed upon him to use his power to draw her into your hands. But Garcia, having received from you the price—the favour—promised him for his act, is now in condition to bring me news to induce him to give me the information that I require. As for you, you have already supplied all the information I care to trouble you for."

These words were slowly and deliberately spoken, while his eyes were steadily fixed upon her face. He was taking a final chance, with such imperturbability as he could command. And, indeed, since it was true, as Sallie had herself said, that he was being can be quite sure of another, it was possible that Garcia, who had already betrayed the count, might now betray Sallie—assuming that the count was right in his guess as to Garcia's part in the affair.

But Sallie, if she felt uneasiness, showed none. She clasped her hands together once more and the maid reappeared.

"Step over to the corner," said her mistress, "and tell Mr. Garcia I want him."

The maid went out, and a moment after the count heard the street door close.

"I am sensitive on some points," Sallie observed, "and you hurt my feelings. I am building no house of cards, Count de Lisle; I am perfectly in earnest, and I am not so childish as to attempt to fight you with shadows—as you fought me. As to your insinuation about my purchase of your friend, I will not deny it; you shall judge for your. It is your doubt of my intelligence that galls me—not, of course, the other insult."

The count made no reply. The point had been passed with him where words that were not also acts seemed worth uttering. He continued to gaze with a certain gloomy curiosity at Sallie. In heart more savage and cruel than a wild beast, in morality a Faustina—and all this incarnated in gentle, low-voiced, patrician-mannered beauty.

Sirs in Tophet must be like her; and that she was a woman was almost enough to damn the whole sex. She was not restless under his gaze; she invited him to take some tea, and on his maintaining his silence she poured out another cup for herself, flavoured it, tasted it, altered it, and finally, when it suited her, drank it, just as the door opened to admit Garcia.

"You know the Count de Lisle, Garcia," said Sallie, in her usual calm voice. "He wishes you to tell him, when Olympia Raven is, so that he may go and rescue her. You know the reward he offers—ten million dollars, is it not? On the other hand, I tell him that unless he agrees to certain very unreasonable conditions of mine I will have the girl killed. The count has been kind to you. You know best whether or not I have been kind. Have you the heart to let that poor innocent girl perish, when by a word you can save her, ruin me, and do yourself the highest service? Tell the count plainly and relieve his suspense."

Garcia turned to the count and gave him a dark, indifferent look, as if there were in him no instinct of human brotherhood.

"You had better do as she wishes," he said, in a cold tone. "She has the power to do what she threatens, and she will carry it out if you defy her."

"Do you know where Olympia Raven is?" said the count.

"Yes; I charmed her there. You can never find her. Attempt no such folly. Comply at once or it will be too late. She cannot survive indefinitely in her present state."

"What do you mean by that?" said the count, with a note of horror in his voice.

"She has been in the trance from the first," replied Garcia. "She is of a delicate organization, and she is sinking every hour."

"You see, my dear count," said Sallie, with a soft laugh, "how indiscreet you were to distrust me. You had met me frankly and cordially all might have been settled by this time. Of course you know that Garcia alone can awaken Olympia from her trance, and that he has only to refrain from awakening her to cause her death. Are you satisfied? Or is there any other person you would like to see and question?"

"What do you want?" demanded the count. "I am at your service."

"After all, think what you are doing," Sallie said. "Why not let the girl die and forget her? There are many others in the world more beautiful and desirable. Will you for the sake of this frail creature, who may die next week in any case, put yourself absolutely in the power of your worst enemy? Think better of it, Count de Lisle."

"I entreat you to have some mercy!"

"The Count de Lisle entreats me for mercy? This is a new role, indeed, for him to play," she exclaimed, in a mock admiration. "Did you not tell me half an hour ago that you were a desperate man—with a revolver, too? And you entreat me—Sallie! Match—the forger, the murderer, the courtier who buys men with his favours—you entreat me for mercy! Where is your self-respect, my dear count?"

"Garcia, will you do nothing?"

"Oh, this is too bad!" exclaimed Sallie. "You ought to be protected against yourself! You are excited, and don't realize what you are about. I haven't the heart to take advantage of you. Take my advice: Have me arrested for my crimes; I am sure to be convicted, and then you are rid of me forever. Olympia will be dead, but what of that? The world will be at your feet. Your path will be clear. There will be no limit to your ambition. Come, be a man! Say the word! Here I am, ready for the scaffold. I could not escape you if I would. Will not the pleasure of witnessing my death agony compensate you for a sentimental pang or two?"

"That is enough," interposed Garcia, gloomily. "He cannot suffer any more. Get the papers and let him sign them. You have had your amusement."

He spoke with an air of authority that gave a new aspect to his mysterious character. The man seemed to change his individuality as easily as ordinary men change their clothes.

"Well," said Sallie, with a sigh, "what Solomon said is true, 'Though you buy a fool in a mortar, yet will not his folly depart from him.' I will get the papers. Meanwhile do you tell him the purport of them."

She left the room, and Garcia turned to the count, who sat white and trembling in his chair.

"You are to be brought back to the station in life from which you rose," said he. "The deeds which you are to sign transfer your property to others. You will execute a paper stating your true name and address, and that you are the murderer of Harry Trent. This will be used against you in case you should attempt to recover what you have surrendered. In other words, your life as well as your fortune will hereafter be at the disposal of this woman. Are you content?"

"Olympia is saved I am content," answered the count.

"She will be conveyed this afternoon to your house on Long Island," said Garcia. "You will go there not earlier than five o'clock. To-morrow you and she will leave this country.

never to return. Your departure will be satisfactorily accounted for. Such are the conditions. Do you clearly understand and unreservedly accept them?"

The count bent his head. Sallie re-entered the room with the papers. They were placed before him, a pen was put in his hand, and he affixed his signature to each document.

was put in his hand, and he affixed his signature to each document. Words were spoken, but he did not comprehend them. The objects of the material world seemed to flow and dissolve around him like the phantasmagory of a dream. He was fully conscious of nothing until he found himself standing on the end of a wharf by the river staring into the stream.

The slaughter was frightful.
The dead and dying were strewn about by thousands.
The crush of matter and the wreck of material bore testimony to the awful work that had been done.

But the end was not yet, for Mrs. O'Hoolihan, with her insect destroyer in hand, continued to pass to and fro among the detached pieces of furniture, slaying without mercy and spraying with a fierceness that betrayed long suffering and a grim determination to end it, even if the cost should mount up to a quarter.—Cleveland Leader.

The Ladies of Old Cadiz.

I'd like to go to Cadiz.
I'd like to see those witching ladies.
Those witching ladies, where the orange blossoms blow,
With their dainty cigarillas
And their quite too sweet mantillas.
Oh, to Cadiz, with its ladies, I will go.

And when our guns were booming
With a pity quite consuming
I would say, "Oh, charming ladies, please to hustle now ahead,
For although we humble Cadiz
We don't war against the ladies,
And the ladies of old Cadiz need not fear the Yankee sword."

And with their cigarillas
And their all too cute mantillas
I would load up every cruiser with this fascinating crew,
And so by easy stages
I would bring these fair hostages
All these ladies of old Cadiz, far across the ocean blue.

YOU NEED THE BEST.

The Diamond Dyes Color All Classes of Goods.

Diamond Dyes, as far as general usefulness is concerned, are far ahead of all the adulterated package and soap grease dyes now before the public. These crude package dyes and soap grease mixtures are very limited in their powers. Tis true, they give a semblance of color to thin and flimsy fabrics, but when tried on good dress materials and heavier goods such as flannels, worsteds, tweed and cloths, they are simply worthless.

The Diamond Dyes, owing to their great powers of penetration, their perfect solidity and depth of shade, their purity and brilliancy, are adapted for all classes of goods from the thinnest gauze to the heaviest tweeds. This great range of work, possible only to the Diamond Dyes, is what has made them so popular all over the world.

If you would do your dyeing work in proper style, use the Diamond Dyes. Avoid all imitation package and soap preparations. The Diamond Dyes are just and best for home use.

Does it Pay to Get an ALEXANDRA CREAM SEPARATOR?

With an Alexandra Cream Separator 10 cows will make 12 lbs. more butter in a week than with any system of "setting" milk, as hundreds of our customers can and will testify. Twelve lbs. butter per week at 15 cents (average price) for 12 weeks is $54.00—the price of a separator suitable for 12 or 14 cows. Hence in one year the separator will SAVE its cost, and you have a machine good for ten years with ordinary care. In addition to this you save labor, make a quality of butter that will command a higher price, and have skimmed milk with the natural heat in it to feed calves. "There is money in calves."

For herds over 20 buy "The Melotte," the best disc machine made, elegant skimmer and easiest to turn of all large capacity Cream Separators. For particulars apply to

MADRID IN WARTIME

A STARVING POPULACE ADDS TO THE TERRORS OF SPAIN'S CAPITAL.

How Mobs Are Dispersed and Bread Rioters Cleared From the Plaza—The Civil Guards Do the Work—Who and What They Are.

Spain's troubles are not all on the seas and on the field of battle. She has troubles at home, and they are not confined to political disturbances. The Spanish people who are neither soldiers, sailors nor politicians are causing them. They are disloyal enough in the midst of so many costly and fatal Spanish victories to wish

CIVIL GUARD DISPERSING A MADRID MOB, to continue the practice of eating. Of course it is most thoughtless and selfish as well as unpatriotic to insist upon thrusting forward trivialities of this nature at such a time, but they are doing it. The result is that Madrid and some of the other cities are in a most unquiet state.

The conditions which have made it somewhat difficult and often impossible for the poorer classes of Spaniards to continue the custom of taking three meals a day, or even one, are due either directly or indirectly to the war with the "Yankee pigs." In the Spanish home ports lie the Spanish merchant vessels, not daring to venture out because of Watson's savage fleet. Therefore Spanish commerce is at a standstill. This means that Spanish factories and Spanish industries of almost every sort have been paralyzed. Little food is being brought into the country, and but little exporting is being done; hence thousands are idle.

Added to this is the fact that it is the poorer classes who bear the bulk of the war tax burden. The most oppressive of these war taxes are the octroi taxes, which are levied on products taken from the country districts into the cities, and vice versa. Thus the peasant who carries eggs, chickens and fruit into Madrid pays an octroi tax on each article at the city gates as he goes in, and if he buys anything in the city he is again taxed as he goes out. Naturally the prices which the peasant demands for his produce are higher than when he had no tax to pay. In the case of the very poor, who always had a hard time to get enough to eat, these prices are now practically prohibitive, and thousands in Madrid have been for weeks without the bare necessities of life.

Realizing that starving people are apt to be de-perate the municipal government of Madrid has made efforts to keep the populace quiet by distributing food, and so the open plazas have been made the theaters of such scenes as are seldom witnessed in a European capital. Motley crowds of gaunt, hollow eyed Spaniards, old and young, throng the streets leading to the plazas and light their way to the distributing booths, where diminutive rolls of bread, little parcels of pork, occasional potatoes and broad Spanish beans are doled out to the famished crowds. Under the broiling sun they stand for hours at a time waiting for their turn to come.

When the rush for the tables threatens to overwhelm the officials in charge, there is a call for the civil guards, and the troops charge into the mob, cutting it up into sections and driving the people out of the squares.

The civil guard is the finest and best equipped force forming part of the Spanish army. In a correct sense the guards are not soldiers, but are more of the nature of police. They are organized on a military plan. The organization consists of some 40,000 men, and in rural sections their special duty consists of protecting and guarding the country roads, even in the most wild and rugged provinces, so that a person can traverse Spain always under the vigilance of a civil guard.

Another branch of this fine force does ordinary police work in the cities and towns. The officers and men receive higher pay than their comrades in the line, but theirs is a hazardous life the year around. This institution has an academy for sergeants and a college for young guards studying for promotion. The best youth of the farmer class are in this corps, and as the young men have to go through a rigid examination that their qualifications may fill the prescribed severe regulations for admission it may be justly called the corps d'elite of the Spanish army.

They look very fine and dashing, do these young guardsmen, as they gallop past, but doubtless the lean Spaniard who feels the flat of their sabers as a reward for his efforts to get enough bread to keep him alive feels something else than admiration for them. S. R. MACDONALD

A SERIOUS CASE.

Too Difficult and Complicated for Ordinary Medical Aid.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND IS THE MIGHTY RESCUER.

Mr. Forsythe says: "I am pleased to recommend Paine's Celery Compound; I believe it is the best medicine in the world."

WELLS & RICHARDSON CO.

Gentlemen:—For two years I was in a low condition of health, suffering from nervousness, fainting spells, pain in the head, stomach troubles and loss of appetite. I was under the care of two doctors, but received no benefit from their treatment. I also used two bottles of a recommended patent medicine, but no good results came. I was then advised by a neighbor to use your wonderful medicine, Paine's Celery Compound. The use of this marvellous preparation soon produced the very best results. I am glad to report that my health is improved in every respect: I am stronger, sleep better, and my appetite is good and natural. I am pleased to recommend Paine's Celery Compound to all sick people, as I believe it is the best medicine in the world.

Yours truly,

COULD NOT DRESS ALONE.

A Nova Scotian Farmer Tells of His Intense Suffering From Rheumatism and How He Found Relief.

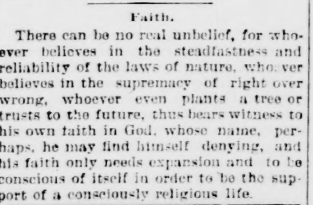

From the Bridgewater, N.S., Enterprise.

Such suffering as rheumatism causes the victim upon whom it fastens itself is almost unendurable. Only those who writhe under its pangs can imagine the joy of one who has been freed from its terrors. Mr. J. W. Folkenham, of New Elm, N.S., is one of those who have been released from pain, and who believes it his duty to let others know how a cure can be found. Mr. Folkenham is a farmer, and like all who follow this arduous but honorable calling, is subject to much exposure. It was this exposure that brought on his trouble and caused him so much suffering before he was rid of it. He says:—"In the spring of 1897 I contracted rheumatism. Throughout the whole summer I suffered from it, and about the first of October it became so bad that I could not get out of the house. The pains were located in my hip and back, and what I suffered, can hardly be expressed. I became so helpless I could not dress myself without aid. Eventually the trouble spread to my hands and arms, and at times these would lose all feeling and become useless. In November I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after taking four boxes began to improve. After using six boxes the pains and soreness had all gone and I was able to do a hard day's work. I intend using a few more boxes more as a precautionary measure, and I would earnestly advise those suffering from this painful trouble to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial and be made well."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the disease. They renew and build up the blood, and strengthen the nerves, thus driving disease from the system. Avoid imitations by insisting that every box you purchase is enclosed in a wrapper bearing the full trade mark, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

Faith.

There can be no real unbelief, for whoever believes in the steadfastness and reliability of the laws of nature, who believes in the supremacy of right over wrong, whoever even plants a tree or trusts to the future, thus bears witness to his own faith in God, whose name, perhaps, he may find himself denying, and his faith only needs expansion and to be conscious of itself in order to be the support of a consciously religious life.

Is the most reliable and effective remedy known for the relief and cure of DIARRHOEA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, CRAMPS, CHOLERA and SUMMER COMPLAINT. It settles the stomach, stimulates the bowels, soothes and heals the irritated bowel.

NEVER FAILS.
"For several seasons we have relied on Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for all summer complaints. A few doses always give relief and it never fails to cure. We think it a very valuable medicine—as precious as gold." MRS. F. C. WINGEN, Fort Hill, Ont.

PRICE 25 CENTS.
Beware of cheap imitations. THEY ARE DANGEROUS.

52 BOILS

"Three years ago I was troubled with boils, and tried several remedies recommended by friends, but they were of no avail. I had FIFTY-TWO BOILS in all, and found nothing to give me relief until I tried Burdock Blood Bitters. The first bottle I took made a complete cure and proved so very satisfactory that I have recommended B.B.B. to many of my friends who have used it with good results." A. J. MUSTARD, Hyder, Man.

Any one troubled with Boils, Pimples, Rashes, Ulcers, Sores, or any Chronic or Malignant Skin Disease, who wants a perfect cure, should use only

How Steniklewicz Writes.

Steniklewicz's method of making a book is as follows: He works out a detailed plan, and writes it down carefully. He fixes this in his head and lets it "soothe and ferment" there, as he says. When ready to begin work, he divides his time, not into days, but weeks. During the first week he produces a certain amount, the second week a similar amount, and so on, week after week. He writes without correction, and never copies, producing just one manuscript—the one which he sends to the printer. Each week's work continues that of the preceding week. Though the plan of the book is elaborated carefully in advance, this plan is not followed strictly. From the "soothing and fermenting" in his head changes are suggested to the author, and he makes them. He has no secretary, amanuensis, copyist or assistant.—Jeremiah Curtin in Century.

Placing His Sympathy.

"I see the Spaniards at Matanzas are compelled to eat their mules to keep from starving," remarked the short man as he laid aside the paper.

"Yes, I was just reading about it," said the man with the chin whiskers. "It is too bad. I actually feel sorry for 'em."

"No, the mules."—Detroit Free Press.

LOCAL NEWS.

Hark! hark! the dogs do bark,
The hunters are come to town—
All with a gun, and some on the run,
To slaughter the chickens down.

Mrs. Mu-grove has returned from the Touchwood Hills.

Mr. Barnes, of Grenfell, has been employed at the felt factory.

MacCaul & Harvey have the scales in order now and fit for work.

Union temperance prayer meeting to-night in the Presbyterian church.

Mr. Jas. Balfour, of Wolsley, was in town for a few days last week.

Several of our sportsmen have been spending the last few days hunting.

Rev. W. A. Vrooman will speak on temperance at Indian Head on the 18th Sept.

D. H. McDonald, M.L.A., came down from Regina on No. 2 on Sunday, returning by No. 1 on Monday.

Mr. Jas. McNaughton will be the returning officer for this district on the vote for prohibition on Sept. 29th.

Don't forget the union mass meetings in the Methodist church each Sabbath evening at the close of the regular services.

The price of weighing on the town scales will be fifteen cents in future. It has been five cents in the past.

Miss Minnie Broley gave a party to her little girl friends on Saturday last, and by the romping and merry laughter we are sure they enjoyed themselves. Some of the older people wished they had been young again.

Voters' lists for the prohibition vote will be posted up eight days before election by the enumerator. The polling divisions will remain the same as at the last federal election. See that your name is on the list now.

Mr. J. S. McDonald, government telegraph overseer, left last Thursday on a trip over his line. It reaches a considerable distance north-west of Edmonton. It will take about three weeks to cover the distance, as the whole way has to be driven.

R. Johnston took a car load of cattle to Winnipeg, from Dungarven on the Prince Albert line, last week. On the way one car took fire and the cattle were badly damaged. Mr. Johnston refused to accept them from the C. P. R. He returned from Winnipeg on Saturday.

We are extremely sorry to hear that our townsman, Mr. W. Mack, is seriously ill with typhoid fever in the hospital at Nelson, B.C. A letter has been received from a nurse at the hospital enquiring particulars of his people and stating the critical condition which he is in.

Mr. Geo. Bailey lost one of his valuable gray working horses last week through blood poisoning. A scratch was noticed on his hind leg but thought to be nothing serious. The next afternoon the leg began to swell and the veterinary was summoned but in spite of everything that could be done the horse died the following morning.

Last Thursday evening the people of Qu'Appelle were treated to a "Sight of hand" entertainment in front of the Queen's Hotel. It was given by a travelling magician. Those pleased with it were permitted to drop a dime into the hat when he passed it round. We haven't heard of anyone being very much benefited in any other way by the visit.

Miss Johnston's entertainment was not patronized as well as might have been expected, owing no doubt to the very busy times amongst the farmers. Miss Johnston had just returned from Prince Albert, and the trip had been so tiring that she did not appear at her best. Every selection, however, was well given and well received. The following are the pieces rendered: "Wolverine," "The Riders of the Plain" (the N.W.M.P.), written since her last visit here; "Odjisi," "Mrs. Stewart's Summer Party," and "My Girl." Miss Johnston was to have appeared at Indian Head and Fort Qu'Appelle, but the next day she was not so well as the evening before, and on the advice of the Dr. she cancelled her engagements for a time and returned to Winnipeg. As Miss Johnston is to recite at the Fort "The Legend of the Qu'Appelle Valley" for the first time, the people are very anxious for her appearance. The poem is not quite complete yet.

Editor McAr, of Indian Head, was in town last week endeavoring to extend his business.

Messrs. James George, E. Fish-leigh and A. Foret, of Indian Head, were in town last week.

Mr. Ball, representing the Toronto Type Foundry, was in town last week on his way to the coast.

A. D. Dickson attended a ball in Regina last week, given by speaker Betts of the Assembly.

We hear that the Deering and McCormick binders had a severe contest one day last week.

Mrs. White, sister of Mrs. J. R. Robinson, returned to her home at Tilsonbury, Ont., by Sunday evening's train.

Mr. John English, of Griswold, was visiting at Jos. Craig's Jr. for a few days last week, returning on Friday evening's train.

Mr. Ambler intends opening a butcher shop for the fall trade. He has a number of cattle already on the way from his ranch.

W. D. Cowan, dentist, will visit Qu'Appelle, Queen's Hotel, on Sept. 20th and 21st. Fort Qu'Appelle, Sept. 22nd, 23rd and 24th.

W. Davidson, who has been employed in the C. P. R. ticket office Winnipeg, returned home a few days ago and will purchase grain in the interests of McMillan and company, during the season.

The following description of temperance work was received from Rev. W. A. Vrooman, of Moose Jaw. It is taken from footings on a postcard and was not intended for publication. "We are pushing work here. Last night had mass meeting, brass band, orchestra singers, three speeches, packed house, biggest hall in town, people turned from doors, big collection, many converts, enthusiasm. We are busy sending out literature, canvassing votes, getting agents everywhere and preparing to give good reports on polling day."

New Buildings—Satisfactory Condition of the School—Prosperity.

A large tower is being added to the north-west corner of the English church. The stonework is to be built as high as the peak of the church. It will greatly improve the appearance of the building.

Our butcher, Mr. North, is putting up a large stable for the feeding of cattle during the winter. It will hold about fifty head. Over the stable is a mow.

Fetherstonhaugh & Baker have opened up a stock of furniture in the building east of the livery stable. They have a full line and will no doubt attract a large trade.

The Hudson Bay have improved the front of their store by the addition of a beautiful sign. The letters are in gilt and raised nearly two inches, so that they may be easily read at any distance.

A polo match is being arranged between Indian Head and this place for Monday, the 19th Sept.

Mr. Dillon's large brick residence is nearing completion and will soon be ready for occupation. It will be a valuable improvement to the appearance of our buildings.

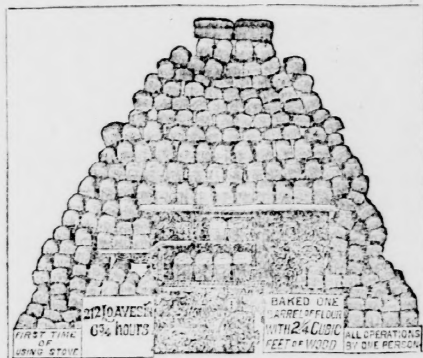

A magnificent new organ has been put into the Presbyterian church. The catalogue price of it was $280, and by the appearance and tone it is worth the price. The ladies have also beautified the appearance of the church by carpeting the pulpit and aisles with a valuable carpet.

Rev. Mr. Hall, who has had charge of the Presbyterian mission at this place for the past six months, returns to Knox College, Toronto, at the end of the present month. During Mr. Hall's short ministry here he has made many warm friends, and it is with regret that they learn that his stay must be so short. Mr. Hall can carry away with him the pleasure of knowing that he leaves behind him many kind remembrances of himself and firm friendships that distance cannot sever.

It was a great disappointment to the people of the Fort that Miss E. Pauline Johnston was obliged to cancel her engagement to this place for the present. J. A. Kerr, on receiving a telegram to that effect from Miss Johnston, at the Station, drove up to see her, to prevent the withdrawal of her engagement if possible. It was found, however, that the doctor had ordered her to do nothing for three weeks, and Miss Johnston left for Winnipeg to be under the care of her physician. We can expect the entertainment to be given as soon as it is safe for Miss Johnston to be on the platform again.

I claim to keep in stock the best all-round cook stoves for farmers use, known as the McClary's Famous Prairie Coal and wood burner. Here are a few of its advantages over all other stoves: Register in oven door—this enables you to know temperature of oven without looking at fire; sheet steel in bottom of oven—this is not only proof against breaking and cracking, but heats much quicker and with less fuel; bottom of stove inlaid with fire clay, thus preventing escape heat going on the floor, also preventing cold air from chilling oven; bolts on outside of stove; weight of stove, 498 lbs. As my stock in this line is complete, please call and see goods and get prices.

Mr. and Mrs. Fetherstonhaugh attended the ball in Regina last week given by Speaker Betts, of the Legislature. Our member, D. H. McDonald, acted as host.

Rev. F. W. Johnston, of St. John's church, conducted the services at Pleasant Forks last Sabbath morning.

Mr. H. E. Joyner, of the Valley Flour Mills, spent last week in Winnipeg on business. As a result of a conversation with a reporter, the Free Press publishes the following: "Mr. Joyner, one of Fort Qu'Appelle's progressive farmers, is spending a few days in the city on business. He reports that the Qu'Appelle and Indian Head districts are steadily advancing, and are justly entitled to the distinction they enjoy for producing heavy crops of No. 1 hard wheat. It is estimated that nearly one million bushels of wheat will pass through the Indian Head elevators this fall and winter. Many of the fields between the C.P.R. main line and Fort Qu'Appelle will yield forty bushels per acre, and few will give a smaller return than thirty bushels. Land is in active demand throughout the district and commands $15 an acre. Mr. Joyner says the farmers already settled there are the principal purchasers of lands, and he regards this as one of the best and most hopeful signs of the times. There are large areas of agricultural lands within a comparatively short distance of Fort Qu'Appelle, which is worth the attention of those interested in colonization. Fort Qu'Appelle is very charmingly located, and has every promise of becoming an important trade centre. A branch railway from the C.P.R. main line would be a boon to the district."

Last Thursday evening Mrs. and Mr. Upphart entertained a number of their friends of the bicycle club by giving a progressive Crokinole party. A very enjoyable time was spent and as a result of the game the club was presented with a beautiful bicycle bell and chronometer by the hostess.

Rev. S. W. Thomson, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Qu'Appelle Stn., and D. J. Hartley, editor of the Qu'Appelle Progress, spent last Friday afternoon here.

Mr. Anderson, foreman of the Hudson Bay store, is spending a few holidays at present. Last week he took a trip to Regina.

The numbers in the school keep on increasing and for proper accommodation an addition will soon have to be made to the building and perhaps to the teaching staff. During the first half of the present year the attendance earned the large amount of $450 from the government as a grant, but as $420 is the maximum amount paid our school was amongst the few who earned more than they could receive. Part at least of the credit is due to the teachers for making such a name for the school.

Mr. A. McDonald is on a business trip to Winnipeg and up the Manitoba North Western as far as Yorkton.

Re the Night School.

To the Editor of THE PROGRESS.

Dear Sir—Some weeks ago I agreed to undertake the management of a night school on condition that a sufficient number of pupils could be obtained to make it a success. At a suggestion of one of the promoters, I take this opportunity of laying the matter before the public. In order to make the course complete as possible, it will be necessary to open about Oct. 17th, or at latest, Nov. 1st. A number in the country have already signified their intention of supporting it, but at least six or eight more students are required. Those who are anxious to take up the work, therefore, will oblige by leaving their names with me at the earliest opportunity.

The course will probably consist of arithmetic, chiefly commercial; practical bookkeeping, literature, writing and reading, and any other subjects required. The intending pupils may confer with me on these matters, however.

It is proposed to have the school open two hours per night for three nights per week, and to run it at least five months. This will allow of a wide enough course being covered to make it useful.

Thanking you for the space, I am, yours respectfully,

E. E. LAW, B.A.
